ECLIPSES IN 1827.

There will be four eclipses this year, two of the Sun, and two of the Moon.

I. The first will be of the Sun, April the 25th, on Wednesday evening, at 10h. 18m. 14s., invisible to us, but visible and annular near the north pole of the earth.

II. The second will be of the Moon, May the 11th, on Friday morning, mostly visible, as follows :

Beginning, - - - - -	2h.	2m.	44s.
Middle, - - - - -	3	35	59
Ecliptic Opposition, - -	3	40	59
End, - - - - -	5	9	14

Digits eclipsed. 11° 47′ 30″ on the ☽'s southern limb. The eclipse will be almost total, and the moon will set before the eclipse ends.

III. The third will be an eclipse of the Sun, October the 20th, on Saturday morning, at 11h. 3m., invisible in our hemisphere, but visible, central, and nearly total, in the southern ocean, about 15° southerly from Terra del Fuego.

IV. The fourth will be of the Moon, November the 3rd, on Saturday, at 0h. 29m. 29sec. afternoon, therefore, invisible to us. Digits eclipsed, 10° 35′ 45″, to the inhabitants of Asia.

DISTRICT OF NEW-HAMPSHIRE, ss.

District Clerk's Office.

§L.S.§ BE IT REMEMBERED, that on the 10th day of July, A. D. 1826. and in the fifty-first year of the Independence of the United States of America, JOHN FARMER, of said district, hath deposited in this office the title of a book, the right whereof he claims as author, in the words following, to wit : "The New-Hampshire Register, and United States Calendar for the year of our Lord, 1827 : being the fifty first year of American Independence. By John Farmer." In conformity to the act of the Congress of the United States, entitled "An act for the encouragement of learning, by securing the copies of maps, charts, and books, to the authors and proprietors of such copies, during the times therein mentioned ;" and also to an act, entitled "an act supplementary to an act entitled an act for the encouragement of learning, by securing the copies of maps. charts and books, to the authors and proprietors of such copies, during the times therein mentioned, and extending the benefits thereof to the arts of designing, engraving, and etching historical and other prints."

CHARLES W. CUTTER,
Clerk of the District of New-Hampshire.

COUNSELLORS OF NEW-HAMPSHIRE,

FROM THE YEAR 1784.

[For a List of the Counsellors of New-Hampshire for the last 40 years, see the Register for 1825 and 1826.]

---

* In 1776, a temporary Constitution was framed, to continue during the war with Great Britain, under which Constitution, Mesheck Weare was annually elected President.

† On the 31st of October, 1783, the new civil Constitution of New-Hampshire went into operation, and continued until 1792. Meshech Weare was the first President.

‡ In 1792, a new Constitution was adopted. The title of President for the Chief Magistrate was abrogated, and that of Governor substituted.

There are in the U. S. more than 50 incorporated colleges.—Total number of graduates from 22 colleges in 1824, 574.

* The whole number of Alumni of Harvard college since 1642, is 5173, among whom may be numbered 2 Presidents of the U. S., 2 Vice Presidents of do., 2 Secretaries of State, 3 of War, 1 of the Treasury, 2 Judges of the U. S., 1 Attorney General, 10 Foreign Ambassadors. 21 Governors of States, 19 Lieutenant Governors, 22 U. S. Senators, 29 Chief Justices, 41 Judges. 20 Presidents of Colleges, 47 Professors of do.

† The whole number of graduates at Yale College, by the triennial catalogue of 1826, appears to be 4,054. A gentleman of this state has compiled an alphabetical catalogue of all the graduates of the New-England colleges, with those of New-Jersey, and Union, and Hamilton, in N. Y., which we hope will soon be published.

‡ Among the sons of New-Jersey College, (formerly Nassau Hall,) may be reckoned 1 President of the U. S., 1 Vice-President, 2 Secretaries of the Navy, 1 of the Treasury, 2 Foreign Ambassadors, 1 Speaker of House of Rep., 1 Attorney General of the U. S., 1 Post Master General, 4 Chief Justices and 9 Judges of Supreme Courts, 14 Governors, 1 Bishop, 16 Presidents of Colleges, and 11 Professors.

JUDICIARY OF THE UNITED STATES.

The Judicial power of the United States is vested in one Supreme Court, and in such inferior Courts as Congress, from time to time, may establish. The present judicial establishment of the United States, consists of a Supreme Court, of twenty-eight District Courts, and seven Circuit Courts, which are thus organized; the Supreme Court is composed of one Chief Justice and six Associate Justices, who hold a Court in the City of Washington annually; besides which, each of these Justices attends in a certain Circuit, comprising two or more Districts, appropriated to each, and, together with the Judge of the District, compose a Circuit Court, which is holden in each District of the Circuit. The District Courts are held, respectively, by the District Judge alone. Appeals are allowed from the District to the Circuit Courts, and from the Circuit to the Supreme Court: and, in some cases, where the inconvenience of attending the Court by a justice of the Supreme Court is very great, the District Courts are invested with Circuit Court powers.

Standard Elementary Books,

Published and sold by Jacob B. Moore, Concord:

OF WHOM MAY BE HAD

I.

PIKE'S ARITHMETICK ABRIDGED: designed to facilitate the study of the science of numbers. Comprehending the most perspicuous and accurate rules, illustrated by useful examples. To which are added, appropriate questions for the examination of scholars, and a short system of Book-keeping. By DUDLEY LEAVITT, teacher of Mathematicks and Natural Philosophy.

☞ This new abridgment of Pike's Arithmetick, being adapted to the present state of the science, has many advantages over any other work. It is plain and easy in its rules, while enough is given for all the common uses of the scholar; and by using this work he becomes better prepared than in any other way to study Pike in full at our academies and higher schools. The publisher has received numerous recommendations—but the best he can offer, is the fact, that the first edition is all sold, and a second in the press.

II.

MURRAY'S ENGLISH READER IMPROVED: by the addition of a Concordant and Synonymising Vocabulary, consisting of about 1500 of the most important words comprised in the work. The words arranged in columns, are placed over the sections respectively from which they are selected; and are pronounced and defined according to the principles of Walker. By JEREMIAH GOODRICH.

The public have never yet been presented with a Reading Book for schools better adapted for that purpose, and for impressing correct moral sentiments, than that of our countryman, Lindley Murray. The present edition contains Murray's Reader entire, with the above mentioned addition of the difficult words arranged in tables in small type over each section, and defined and pronounced correctly. Most teachers who have seen this Definition Reader, as it may be most properly called, are very decided in their preference for it over any other edition. Price only 50 cents, singly.

III.

COMPLETE DIRECTIONS for parsing the English Language; or the Rules of Grammar made easy;—being a new grammatical essay, designed as a supplement to Murray's Grammar, for the use of students as soon as they begin to parse. By DUDLEY LEAVITT.

This Grammatical Essay is designed as a Supplement to the English Grammars commonly used in schools.

as a Recapitulation of the practical Principles and Rules, divested of superfluous phraseology, and arranged in a plain and perspicuous manner.

Many young students after they have recited the grammar through, and are told by their instructor that they may commence parsing, naturally ask the question, how must we begin? Let such inquirers read this Supplement, and it will inform them how to begin, and not only so, but be a useful Directory in all their exercises in parsing.

☞ Price only 12½ cents singly.

IV.

MARSHALL'S SPELLING BOOK: a new and beautiful edition, with new emblematical engravings, and a beautiful frontispiece, representing Experience teaching Youth.

☞ It would be superfluous to say any thing of the merits of this excellent work, which is every where used, and is superior to any of the new spelling-books sought to be introduced in our schools.

V.

NEW CIPHERING BOOK, adapted to Pike's Arithmetick abridged: including a variety of useful Tables; Promiscuous Exercises in all the Rules; and Illustrative Notes.—With entire BLANK PAGES OF FINE PAPER, sufficient for writing down all the most interesting operations of the scholar.

☞ The design of this New Ciphering Book or Atlas to Pike, is to prevent the too common practice among scholars of writing down their operations in the Arithmetick which they study—thereby disfiguring their book, and completely destroying its usefulness to another scholar; for if a scholar make use of an arithmetick which has all its sums worked out, it is easy to see with what facility he may go through his book without even knowing any thing about its principles. PRICE 50 CENTS.

VI.

CUMMINGS' FIRST LESSONS IN GEOGRAPHY and Astronomy, with seven maps and a view of the solar system, for the use of children. Price 25 cents.

VII.

*BLAIR'S LECTURES ON RHETORICK ABRIDG*ed, with Questions by Rev. J. L BLAKE.

☞ The sale of 15,000 copies of this edition in about three years, proves its superiority.

VIII.

THE NEW TESTAMENT without note or comment. On beautiful stereotype plates, and fine paper.

☞ J. B. Moore has also for sale all the SCHOOL BOOKS in general use, Orders answered on the very best terms.

* The settlements of Portsmouth, Dover and Exeter, voluntarily put themselves under the government of Massachusetts colony in 1641, and were allowed to send their representatives to the General Court at Boston. This union with Massachusetts remained until 1st of January, 1680, when a commission arrived at Portsmouth from England, establishing a Provincial Government. Hampton, from its first settlement till this time, had belonged to Massachusetts.

SKETCHES OF THE CHIEF MAGISTRATES OF NEW-HAMPSHIRE.

JOHN CUTT.

JOHN CUTT, the first Provincial Chief Magistrate of New-Hampshire, came from Wales to this country before the year 1646, and fixed his residence at Portsmouth. His business was that of a merchant, in which he acquired a considerable estate. He was married in 1662, to Hannah Star, and had five children, two of whom were sons A second wife, Ursula, whom he married after 1674, was killed by the Indians. He was appointed President of New-Hampshire in 1679, and entered upon the duties of his office early in 1680, and died 27 March, 1681.

RICHARD WALDRON.

RICHARD WALDRON, with a brother William, came to this country from Somersetshire, England, about 1640, and settled at Dover, where he soon became one of the principal men of the settlement. A letter from Rev. John Walrond, of Ottery, Eng. to Rev. William Waldron, of Boston, dated in 1726, supposes Richard to be descended from Richard Walerand, known in English history,* to whom lands in Devonshire were granted by the Crown about A. D. 1130. President, or Major Waldron, by which title he was generally known, represented Dover in the General Court of Massachusetts 22 years, and was speaker of the house in 1666, 1667, 1668, 1673 part of 1674, and in 1679. He succeeded Pres. Cutt in 1681, and the next year was succeeded by Cranfield. He was killed by the Indians in their attack on Dover, June, 1689, at the age of about 80. He left one son Richard, born in 1650, whose descendants to the present day have been employed in public life.

EDWARD CRANFIELD.

EDWARD CRANFIELD was appointed by royal commission, Lieutenant Governor of New-Hampshire, 9 May, 1682. He was of the family of Lord Monteagle, who was instrumental of discovering the Popish plot in the reign of James I. His government in New-Hampshire was arbitrary and oppressive in a high degree, but fortunate for the people it was short, lasting only about three years. Let our youth read this portion of our history in the first volume of Belknap. After Cranfield's departure from N. H., he resided sometime in Barbadoes. In the reign of William III., he procured a ship of war at his own expense, it is said, and presented it to the crown. He died about the beginning of the last century, and was buried in the Cathedral church at Bath, England.

JOSEPH DUDLEY.

JOSEPH DUDLEY was the eldest son by a second marriage of Gov. Thomas Dudley of Massachusetts, on whom his successor, Gov. Belcher, wrote the following epitaph.

"Here lies Thomas Dudley, that trusty old stud;
"A bargain's a bargain and must be made good."

Joseph was born at Roxbury, 23 Sept. 1647, and graduated at Harvard college in 1665. He was elected an Assistant of Massachusetts colony in 1676, and remained in that office until 1686, when he was appointed President of Massachusetts and New-Hampshire. His authority in both places ceased on the arrival of Sir Edmund Andros, 20 Dec. 1686. On the accession of Queen Anne, he was appointed Governor of Massachusetts and New-Hampshire. He arrived at Boston from England, 11 June, 1702, and continued in the government of both provinces till Nov. 1715. He died at Roxbury, 2 April, 1720, æ 72. His family was numerous and respectable. Paul Dudley, F.R.S.

his third son, was founder of the annual Dudleian lecture at Harvard college.

EDMUND ANDROS.

Edmund Andros was appointed by James II., governor of the whole of New-England, in 1686, and arrived at Boston, 20 Dec. that year. His administration was of the most oppressive and tyrannical character, and verged far towards despotism. After suffering the impositions of his arbitrary measures more than two years, the people in and around Boston, on the 18 April, 1689, took up arms, and seized the governor, and about 50 other obnoxious persons, and confined them. Andros was sent to England for trial, and though guilty in public estimation, escaped without public censure. In 1692, he was appointed governor of Virginia. It is stated that he died at an advanced age in London, in Feb. 1714.

JOHN USHER.

After the new Charter of Massachusetts was granted in 1691, the province of New-Hampshire continued a separate government until the Revolution, when the regal government was entirely abrogated. John Usher, a native of Boston, was appointed lieutenant governor of New-Hampshire in 1692. He was son of Hezekiah Usher, a bookseller, of Boston, and was born 27 April, 1648, and was educated a stationer. He remained in office about five years, and was succeeded by William Partridge. He was again appointed in 1702 under Gov. Dudley, and remained in office until 1715. He afterwards removed to Medford, where he died 5 Sept. 1726, æ 78.

WILLIAM PARTRIDGE.

William Partridge was appointed lieutenant governor of New-Hampshire about the year 1697, and sustained the office but little more than one year. He removed to Newbury about the year 1703, and there spent the rest of his days in a "mercantile department, and in the business of his profession." He died 3 Jan. 1729, in the 75th year of his age. Richard Partridge, his son, was an agent for the province in England, and lived in London. Mary, one of his daughters, was the wife of Gov. Belcher, and died in 1736, æ 51.

Digitized by Google

SAMUEL ALLEN.

Samuel Allen, the purchaser of Mason's claim, was appointed governor of New-Hampshire in 1698, and exercised the functions of office about one year. The history of his administration is given by Dr. Belknap. He issued an order 31 Jan. 1699, to the sheriff to make "strict search for finding out all books, records, scripts, minuments, and other writings belonging unto the inhabitants of the province," which had been formerly in the custody of William Vaughan. Gov. Allen died 4 May, 1705.

RICHARD, EARL OF BELLAMONT.

The Earl of Bellamont, whose name, I suppose, was Richard Coote, was appointed governor of New-York, Massachusetts and New-Hampshire in May, 1695, but did not arrive at New-York until May, 1698. He arrived at Boston, 26 May, 1699, and was received with the greatest respect, being the first nobleman who had been placed at the head of any of the New-England governments. He rendered himself very acceptable to the people, by his condescension and courteous deportment on all occasions. He was particularly active in securing the pirates, which had for some time infested our shores, and it was during his administration that the noted Captain Kidd was seized and sent to England for trial. The Earl's administration was short, as his death occurred at New-York, 5 March, 1701.

* Sheriffs, since the year 1799, have been appointed for the term of five years. The offices of Attorney General, Solicitor, and Justice of the Peace are limited to the same period. By a law passed 28 June, 1827, the offices of Coroner and Notary Public are limited to the same term.

† S. Strafford; M. Merrimack; R. Rockingham. &c. Those named as not belonging to the county, are generally qualified to act in the county where they have their residence.

‡ Every Coroner, before he enters upon the duties of his office, shall be sworn to the faithful discharge thereof, and shall give sufficient security to the Treasurer of the State for the time being, in a sum not exceeding £3000, nor less than £1000, to the acceptance of the Justices of the Court of Common Pleas, in the county of which he is Coroner.

CHURCHES,

AND MINISTERS OF THE GOSPEL, OF DIFFERENT DENOMINATIONS.

I. CONGREGATIONAL CHURCHES.

The Congregationalists are the most numerous denomination of christians in New-Hampshire. The oldest church takes its date from the year 1638. From that time to the 1 November, 1827, there had been regularly inducted into office over the different churches, as many as 381 ministers, of whom 326 were educated at the colleges in this country, and 55 were educated at foreign universities, or received their education from clergymen. Of the number educated at the colleges in the United States, 177 were graduated at Harvard University. 77 at Dartmouth, 26 at Yale, 17 at Brown, 11 at Middlebury, 7 at Nassau, in New-Jersey, 7 at Williams, 3 at Bowdoin, and 1 at Union. Nearly 90 had been ordained before their settlement in this State, or received installation after being dismissed from their first charge in N. H. About 110 have died in this State, while sustaining the ministerial office.

Those within brackets are without pastoral charge. Those having a † are life members of the American Education Society; those having ‖ are life members of the American Bible Society; those with a ‡ are members of the American Tract Society. Those in italicks have been employed a portion of time the past year by the N. H. Missionary Society.

JUDICIARY OF THE UNITED STATES.

The Judicial power of the United States is vested in one Supreme Court, and in such inferior Courts as Congress, from time to time, may establish. The present judicial establishment of the United States, consists of a Supreme Court, of twenty-eight District Courts, and seven Circuit Courts, which are thus organized; the Supreme Court is composed of one Chief Justice and six Associate Justices, who hold a Court in the City of Washington annually; besides which, each of these Justices attends in a certain Circuit, comprising two or more districts, appropriated to each, and, together with the Judge of the District, compose a Circuit Court, which is holden in each District of the Circuit. The District Courts are held, respectively, by the District Judge alone. Appeals are allowed from the District to the Circuit Courts, and from the Circuit to the Supreme Court: and, in some cases, where the inconvenience of attending the Court by a justice of the Supreme Court is very great, the District Courts are invested with Circuit Court powers.

ECLIPSES IN THE YEAR 1829.

There will be four eclipses this year: two of the Sun, and two of the Moon.

I. The first will be of the Moon, March the 20th, at 9h. In the morning, invisible.

II. The second will be of the Sun, April the 3d, at 5h. 36m. in the afternoon, invisible in New-England, by reason of the Moon's latitude being too far south.

III. The third will be of the Moon, September the 13th, in the morning, visible, and by calculation as follows:

	H.	M.
Beginning,	0	49	Apparent time.
Ecliptick Opposition,	1	48
Middle,	1	57
End,	3	6
Duration,	2	17

Digits eclipsed, 5° 36′, or nearly one half of the Moon's diameter, on her south limb, and north side of the Earth's shadow.

IV. The fourth will be of the Sun, September the 27th, at 9h. 10m. in the evening, consequently invisible to us.

*In 1776, a temporary Constitution was formed, to continue during the war with Great Britain, under which Constitution, Meshech Weare was annually elected President. This was the first Constitution formed in any of the Colonies after the Revolution commenced.

†On the 31st of October, 1783, the new civil Constitution of New-Hampshire went into operation, and continued, without alteration until 1792. Meshech Weare was the first President.

‡In 1792, the Constitution was revised by a Convention of Delegates who assembled at Concord. The title of President for the Chief Magistrate was abrogated, and that of Governor substituted.

SKETCHES OF THE CHIEF MAGISTRATES OF NEW-HAMPSHIRE.

GEORGE VAUGHAN.

George Vaughan was the son of Major William Vaughan, and Margaret Cutt, a daughter of Richard Cutt, brother to the first President under the provincial government. He was born at Portsmouth, 13 April, 1676, and was educated at Harvard College, where he took his first degree in 1696, being a classmate with Judge Remington of Massachusetts. After leaving college, he went to London, where he was employed as agent for the province. He was there noticed by several persons of quality and influence, with some of whom his father had been connected. By them he was recommended as a candidate for the office of Lieutenant-Governor, and accordingly, on the accession of George I, was appointed to that office. He arrived in his native state in October, 1715, and published his commission. His unexpected elevation was esteemed as a mark of peculiar favor from the crown to the Province, and was a source of gratification to his father, who had been ill treated by some of the former governors, and had suffered much in the cause of the people against arbitrary restrictions. On occasion of some altercation between him and Governor Shute he was suspended and shortly after removed from office. He died in December, 1725, æt. 49, leaving two sons and five daughters. One of the sons was Col. William Vaughan, the projector of the Louisburg expedition, who was born 12 Sept. 1703; grad. H. C. 1722; died in London, in Dec. 1746, Æt. 43.

SAMUEL SHUTE.

Governor SHUTE was a son of an eminent citizen of London, and was born in 1662. His mother was the daughter of Rev. Mr. Caryl, a dissenting minister of distinction, [See Lord's Lempriere.] He received his early education under the care of the Rev. Charles Morton, who came to New-England, and settled at Charlestown, Massachusetts. He was sent from London to Leyden, and afterwards entered the army of King William, served under the duke of Marlborough, and became a lieutenant-colonel. He was wounded in one of the principal battles in Flanders. He was commissioned as governor of Massachusetts and New-Hampshire on the 15 of June, in the second year of the reign of George I., and arrived at Boston, 4 Oct. 1716, and succeeded governor Dudley. He remained in office about six years, and then embarked for England with complaints against the province. He died in England, 15 April, 1742, Æt. 80 years, and was succeeded in New-Hampshire by lieutenant-governor John Wentworth as commander in chief.

JOHN WENTWORTH.

JOHN WENTWORTH, the son of Samuel Wentworth, and grandson of elder William Wentworth of Dover, was born 16 January, 1672 His inclinations led him to a seafaring life, and "he soon became a commander of note, and gave a laudable example to that order, by his sober behaviour, and constant care to uphold the worship of God in his ship. Wherever he came, by his discreet and obliging deportment, he gained the love and esteem of those with whom he conversed. On his leaving the sea, he had considerable business as a merchant, and always had the reputation of a fair and generous dealer. He was a gentleman of respectable abilities, which were much improved by conversation. He was remarkably civil and kind to strangers; respectful to ministers of the gospel; a lover of good men of all denominations; compassionate and bountiful to the poor; courteous and affable to all, having a constant regard to the duties of divine worship in private and publick, and paying a due deference to all the sacred institutions of Christ." N. E. Weekly Journal, Dec. 28, 1727. He died at Portsmouth of a lethargic disorder, 12 Dec. 1727, Æt 59.

WILLIAM BURNET.

Governor BURNET was the eldest son of Gilbert Burnet, bishop of Salisbury, and was born at the Hague in Holland, in March, 1688. He was appointed governor of New-York and New-Jersey in 1720, of Massachusetts and New-Hampshire in 1728, and arrived at Boston in July, 1728, where he was received with unusual pomp. His administration was short, as he died 7 Sept. 1729, Æt. 41. The following anecdote has been related by his biographers and may be here repeated, although at the expense of New-Hampshire. One of the committee who went from Boston to meet him on the borders of Rhode-Island, was the facetious colonel Tailer. The governor complained in his progress of the long graces said by clergymen on the road, and inquired of colonel Tailer when they would shorten. Tailer answered, "the graces will increase in length till you come to Boston; after that, they will shorten till you come to your government of New-Hampshire, where your excellency will find no grace at all."

JONATHAN BELCHER.

Governor BELCHER, son of the honorable Andrew Belcher, and grandson of Andrew Belcher, who came from England, and settled at Cambridge as early as 1642; was born January, 1682, and graduated at Harvard college in 1699. Soon after the completion of his classical studies, he went to England, and was six years absent from his native country. After his return, he lived in Boston as a merchant; was elected one of the counsellors of the province, and in 1729, was sent as an agent to the British court from Massachusetts. In 1730, he succeeded Gov. Burnet, and remained in office eleven years. He was then removed in consequence of the inveterate hostility of his enemies, who to effect their purposes forged letters in order to destroy his reputation. He repaired after a year or two to court, and vindicated his character from the charges alleged against him; was restored to royal favor; he arrived in 1747, and where he remained in office until his death, at Elizabeth-Town, on the 31 of August, 1757, Æt. 75 years. He was brought to Cambridge, the residence of his ancestors, and there entombed. There are very abundant materials for giving a full biography of governor Belcher, and it is hoped they will be employed for that purpose.

DAVID DUNBAR.

David Dunbar succeeded Lieutenant-Governer John Wentworth, being under Governor Belcher as commander in chief. He was a native of Ireland, and a reduced Colonel in the British service. He had been appointed Surveyor General of all and singular of the King's woods within all and every of the colonies and plantations on the continent of America, then growing, or being, or which should afterwards grow or be, within the said colonies or plantations. His commission conferring this power is dated 12 Dec. 1727, and is signed by Robert Walpole, George Doddington and William Clayton. A good account of Dunbar and his administration may be found in the XVI chapter of Belknap's History of New Hampshire, to which the reader is referred.

BENNING WENTWORTH.

Governor Benning Wentworth was the first separate governor of New-Hampshire after the year 1700. He was son of lieutenant-governor John Wentworth; was born in 1696, and graduated at Harvard college in 1715. He was elected a member of the assembly, and on the 5 of September, 1732, was appointed a mandamus counsellor, but was not sworn into office, until 12 October, 1734. He went to England after this period, and while there, solicited and obtained the commission of governor of New-Hampshire. He began his administration in 1741, and continued in office until 1767, when he was superseded by his nephew John Wentworth. He died at Portsmouth, 14 October, 1770, Æ. 74. The town of Bennington in Vermont was granted by him, and from him received its name.

JOHN WENTWORTH.

The second John Wentworth, was son of Mark H. Wentworth, and grandson of lieutenant-governor Wentworth. He was born in 1736, and graduated at Harvard college in 1755 in the same class with President John Adams. He was appointed governor in 1767, and left the province in 1775; was afterwards the governor of Nova Scotia; was LL. D. at Oxford, Aberdeen, and Dartmouth; received the title of Baronet from George III., and died at Halifax, 8 April, 1820, Æt. 84.

V. METHODIST CHURCHES.

Methodist ministers are either Local or Itinerant. The Itinerant ministers appointed to labour within this State for the present year, or the stations allotted to them, have not in all cases been ascertained. If correct annual lists were forwarded to the Compiler, this department of the Register would be made more complete and satisfactory. The total number of members of the Methodist Episcopal Church in the U. S. is 381,997; of itinerant preachers 1570; of stations 759.

JUDICIARY OF THE UNITED STATES.

The Judicial power of the United States is vested in one Supreme Court, and such inferior Courts as Congress, from time to time, may establish. The present Judicial establishment of the United States, consists of a Supreme Court, of twenty-eight District Courts, and seven Circuit Courts, which are thus organized: the Supreme Court is composed of one Chief Justice and six Associate Justices, who hold a Court in the City of Washington annually; besides which each of these Justices attends in a certain Court, comprising two or more districts, appropriated to each, and, together with the Judge of the District, compose a Circuit Court, which is holden in each District of the Circuit. The District Courts are held, respectively, by the Judge alone. Appeals are allowed from the District to the Circuit Courts, and from the Circuit to the Supreme Court; and, in some cases, where the inconvenience of attending the Court by a justice of the Supreme Court is very great, the District Courts are invested with Circuit Court powers.
